EMORY | NELL HODGSON WOODRUFF SCHOOL OF NURSING

NIH / NINR

ADVANCED RESEARCH TRAINING IN NON-BIOLOGICAL INFLUENCES ON HEALTH

APPLY NOW

FOCUS AREAS:

Cancer | Cardiovascular Disease | Aging | Cognition | Climate Change Women's Health | Reproductive Health Behavioral Health

BENEFITS:

Year-Long Faculty Mentorship | $900 Pilot Study Stipend | $750 Conference Travel Award | National Peer Network

5-DAY COURSE:

First Week of June 2027
+ Year-Long Mentorship!

Emory University's Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing is accepting applications for the NIH / NINR Advanced Research Training (ART) Fellowship Program. This program aims to train nurse scientists and researchers in related fields to address in non-biological influences on health and improve health outcomes for individuals, communities, and societies.

ELIGIBLE APPLICANTS

- Pre- and postdoctoral fellows, early career faculty
- Letters of support from research mentors and institutional leadership required

IMPORTANT DATES
Apply By: January 4, 2027
Notification: March 19, 2027

CONTACT
Dr. Jill B. Hamilton
jbhamil@emory.edu